The screenshot shows the same Google Account creation page as above, but with a privacy policy dialog box overlaid in the center. The dialog box has a title "Why we process it" and contains the following text:

Why we process it

We process this data for the purposes described in our policy, including to:

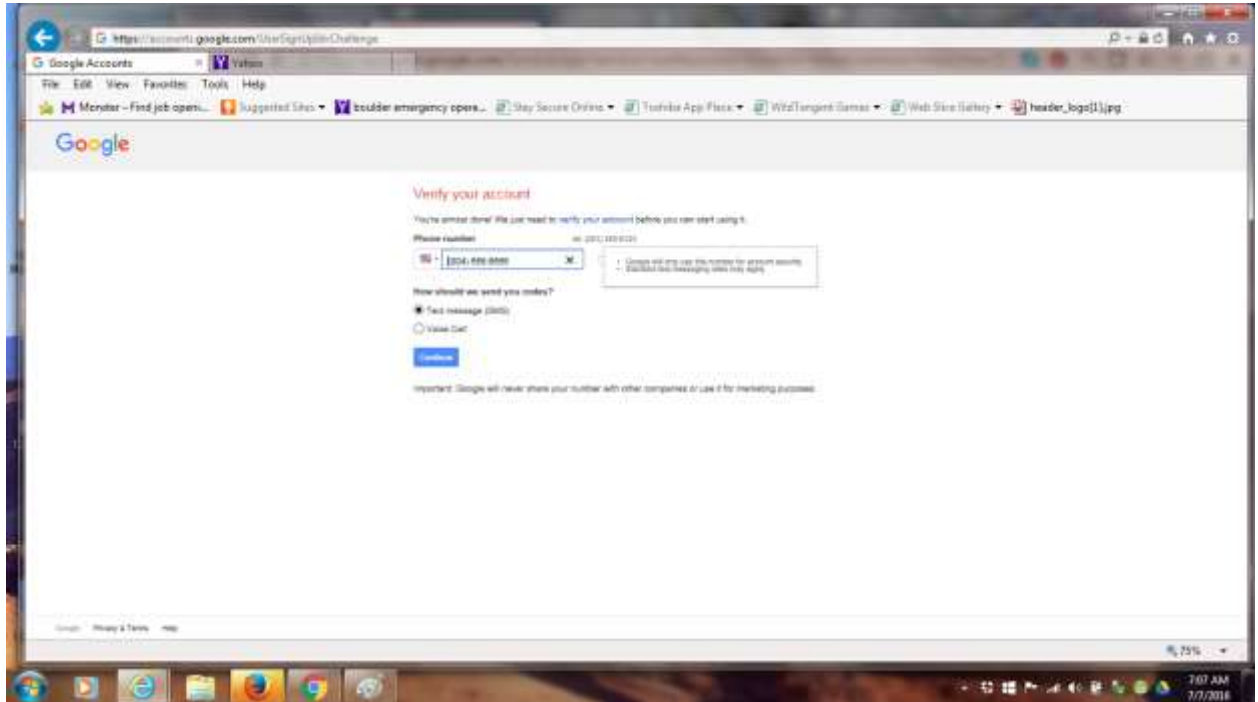

- Help our services deliver more useful, customized content such as more relevant search results.
- Improve the quality of our services and develop new ones.
- Deliver personalized ads, with our Google services and on sites and apps that partner with Google.
- Improve security by protecting against fraud and abuse, and
- Conduct analytics and measurement to understand how our services are used.

Combining data

We also combine data among our services and across your devices for these purposes. For example, we show you ads based on information from your use of Search and Gmail, and we use data from billions of device queries to build sophisticated models that we use across all of our services.

At the bottom of the dialog box are two buttons: "CANCEL" and "I AGREE".

- 5) Follow the onscreen instructions to verify your account – they will immediately text a code to your cellphone, and you enter that code into a blank on the screen where you are creating the account. This verifies that they have a second means of contacting you if needed.

THAT'S IT! Now you can go to accounts.google.com anytime on any Internet-connected device, log in, click the envelope icon, and use this new email account to send and receive emails securely!
